

whether it was that of a father, brother or husband. The time again were the women pressed back from the mouth of the shaft, but as the work of rescue proceeded the same scene was repeated. It was almost impossible to recognize any resemblance of human form in the bodies of many of those rescued. Heads, arms, legs, hands and feet in many instances were torn from the trunk; the pit clothes were either partially or entirely buried away, and in several cases the flames had literally roasted almost all the flesh on the body. The dead were taken to the blacksmith shop near the main shaft, where a morose was improvised, and the living taken to their homes. The crowd vacillated between the shaft and blacksmith shop all day.

Each article of clothing and the contents of the pockets were closely scrutinized for any distinguishable marks whereby the body could be identified. A most horrible sight met the gaze of members of the rescue party at the bottom of the shaft, where lay an indiscriminate mass of limbs and dismembered bodies of miners. The explosion was terrific. It literally tore the mine to pieces. It closed up the galleries, tore down the barricades which kept the air from circulating freely through the unused portion of the mine, thus cutting off all air from the galleries. This morning the relief party of Krebs miners was compelled, after forty-eight hours' steady labor, to stop work. The party was completely exhausted. Three car loads of mules were in the mine when the explosion occurred and only two animals were hurt. The boss driver, Tom Kane, was killed. The superintendent of the mine said the blame should be laid on whoever fired the blast, as it was done too soon. It should have been fired at 5:10 o'clock. The miners had left the mine in which the explosion would have occurred but only five or six men would have been killed. The work of bringing up the bodies and removing the living still progresses.

The Osage mines at Krebs is Gould's property, and has been operated for many years under the management of parties in St. Louis.

The dead are: George Lindsey, Ed. Lindsey, Mike Jacobs, Ted Draugh, John Farrell, John Deane, Steve Eversen, Juan Compaes, Steve Saffro, Delver Fave, Bennett Moss, Joe Coranto, Antonio Guesco, Tom Kane, Lidower, Joe Clarke, Joe Hooey, James Quinn, his two sons, Matt and Johnny, George Gregory, Joe McShane, Mike McShane, his son, Alexander Coranto, Robert McConnell, Patrick Powers, William Walton, Mitchell Jannett, Jack Williams, Ted Kobell, Thomas Bell, Larry Hunt, Angelo Ferro, Gaude Jacomo, Peter Collins, Jim Farmer, John Hartley, Mike Fuller, Peter Greer, John Williams, Lorenzo Sindrana, Antonio Gerard, John Gregory, Tom Valio, Alonzo Gregory, Peter Johns, Joe Valio, Joe Valio, John Deane, John Beattie, William Russell, John Oland, fatally injured.

The following are among the fatally injured: Joe Jacomo, Rich Nicholson, Joe McShane, John Lewis, Joe Malons, Russ Crocker, Peter Bark, Peter Verito, J. P. Poupille, Frank Market, Dominic Ferro, James Nix, John Deane, John Beattie, Sefra, Nicholas Pasque, Nicholas Serrin, an unknown miner, burned so as to be unrecognizable, but still living; B. V. Powers, Scrophin, Antonio, Antonio, Maquias, Silvestre Nichols, Peter Mayst, Lewis Gregory, Theodore Cecil, Joseph Baldes, Henry Bone, T. J. Flynn, Ed. Flynn, James Hopkins, Daniel Hopkins, James Clark, Hawthorne McCellan, Charles Martin, James Stark, Ed. Bacon, Ed. Wyn, Mike Wyn, Peter Ayn, Mike Jones, James Campbell, George Greenbaum, J. S. Edwards, Dave McAlpin, John McKern, James Hoyle, D. Promiso, Evan Jones, Rex, etc. All are terribly injured. The bodies and hands, some about the bodies, and many have fractured skulls, arms and legs. Perhaps it will never be known just how many lives were lost in the accident. The bodies of the galleries and approaches are so blocked with debris it is nearly impossible to open them. The mine officials assert only about a dozen bodies are missing. The miners assert there are others imprisoned. Of 355 men in the mine Thursday, 51 dead bodies have been recovered, 107 escaped by way of the venting shaft, and 108 were rescued from the main shaft. This leaves thirty-nine unaccounted for. The list of those who escaped and those who were rescued is known to be incomplete. It is believed about twenty escaped who are not listed. This would leave nineteen bodies still in the mine. It is considered almost certain that all yet remaining must be dead.

Mrs. Harrison's First Reception.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Harrison held her first public reception for the season this afternoon. There was a constant stream of callers. She was assisted by the wives of Justice Gray and Justice Brewer. The secretary of the treasury has awarded the life-saving medal of honor to Morris Rosenthal, of Riverside, Cal., a lad of fourteen years, for rescuing a man from drowning on the 20th of August last at the peril of his own life.

The Garza Revolution.
EAGLE PASS, TEX., Jan. 9.—Sensational news of the past few days that the Clerical party of Mexicans was backing the Garza revolutionists has aroused the citizens to the importance of better military protection in the event of an outbreak. There are about ten thousand Americans on both sides of the river in Pecos, Texas, and Eagle Pass, and to protect the inhabitants of the American towns there are one company of United States troops and a local militia company. A meeting of the board of trade has been called to draft suitable resolutions to be forwarded to the department commander at San Francisco and to Washington. An ambitious young officer at Fort Duncan, who made a dash for the Garza revolution, was arrested at San Antonio for transfer to the lower Rio Grande, was told to remain where he was as he would probably see all the service desired before the present difficulty is settled.

Consul Owens Goes to Eagle Pass.
GALVESTON, Jan. 9.—Plutarco Owens, Mexican consul, has gone to Eagle Pass on official business. It is thought his visit has some connection with the Garza revolution.

Investigating Garza's Backing.
CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 9.—The government has received information as to who is backing Garza, and is investigating the matter. President Diaz is especially suspicious. The government is very grateful to the United States for the part that country has taken against Garza's band on the frontier. Rumors current here of a revolution in Guatemala are denied by the Guatemalan government.

No Aid from the Bishop of Monterey.
LAREDO, TEXAS, Jan. 9.—L. Samdiz Diaz, the Mexican government representative here, authorizes an unqualified denial of the reports to the effect that the bishop of Monterey is the channel through which the revolutionists secure financial aid.

News at Military Headquarters.
SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 9.—The following dispatch was received at military headquarters to-day:

FR. RUSSELL, Jan. 9.—"I received information yesterday that Garza would meet twenty-five of his men at Laguna Loca, eighty miles northeast of here. I forwarded the information by courier to Captain McKay and Captain McNeil who are scouting in that direction. Lieutenant Beach has just arrived from Presnora reporting everything quiet there. Lieutenant Knight is at Carrizo scouting and patrolling the river up and down from that point. Captain Hardie will leave to-morrow for a scout back toward the interior." (Signed) CAPTAIN WHEELER, Commanding.

Mexican Troops After the Revolutionists.
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 9.—A Rio Grande City special says: A message from Captain Rite, Havana ranch, states the revolutionists are gathering at Javile ranch, Mexico, about twenty miles back from the river. The Mexican troops have been started for the ranch, the river being well guarded on this side by United States troops and rangers. The troops arrived here yesterday morning with one prisoner from Javile. The principal body of revolutionists is supposed to be in the country back from the river. Only small bodies of stragglers are found along the border.

After the Walsall Anarchists.
LONDON, Jan. 9.—The police at Walsall are making further investigations into the damages of the Walsall anarchists. The authorities are extremely reticent regarding their discoveries, but it has leaked out that their investigations have developed the fact that prisoners Charles Slaughter and Donkin with others who are not yet in custody, were hatching a plot resembling in its details the plot of the Haymarket massacre in 1886. It is asserted four of the documents seized by the police are of an extremely startling nature. Further arrests are pretty certain to follow the knowledge gained by the police, and sensational developments are promised when the authorities make public all the details of the conspiracy.

Among the spoils that have fallen into the hands of the police is a heap of pamphlets and papers found in the club rooms. These contain articles couched in violent language against rich men, monopolists, and society in general. Among the papers found were copies of the Chicago Anarchist, besides a large number of cartoons published with American and continental papers.

The police regard Slaughter as the most dangerous member of the gang. He was born in Norwich, but lived for years in the United States. Slaughter came to Walsall six months ago and immediately became a member of the club, ever since then he has virtually been prime mover in all the schemes concocted by the Anarchists in that town. The police assert Slaughter was prominent among the Socialists of Chicago at the time of the Haymarket massacre and claim he has been connected with almost every big Anarchist movement in recent years. Slaughter talks with an American accent. He is tall and slim and wears a sandy mustache. Since last July he has been employed in a foundry. When the police searched Slaughter's lodgings they found an immense assortment of literature in which the most violent form of language is used to call Anarchists to revenge themselves upon society for wrongs they claim to suffer. The shells seized by the police are of iron with a powder screw inserted in the apex of the cone. There are three small apertures in the bottom in which a cap, fitted in a ring, is attached to the bomb to facilitate its carriage.

Slaughter Known in Chicago.
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Slaughter, the Anarchist under arrest in England, is remembered here as having gone around the city before the Haymarket massacre giving lectures on "Socialism." Police inspector Schaack says he left here immediately after the Haymarket riot, and was a warm friend of Schwab and Fielden.

A Blaine Oath-Bound Organization.
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—A morning paper says: A new political organization has been formed with reciprocity for its platform and Blaine as its chief. The combination includes laboring men in protected trades, farmers who are not in or are weary of the Alliance, and Democrats and Republicans generally who believe in Blaine and a protective tariff. The organization is secret and oath-bound. Each member must subscribe to a ritual that fixes his opinions on certain questions in black and white. It claims to have a membership of about 75,000 members. Encampments or lodges are to be organized in every city in the land. Old time political associations will be laid aside. Its scope is immense. It takes in half a dozen great interests in the west and southwest; embraces every one who is partial to Blaine and reciprocity and is organized under the general name of "Knights of Reciprocity." In the east where there is no Farmers' Alliance the organization will be called the Continental League. The particular branch of the movement is intended to exist in cities and large towns almost exclusively. Ex-Assistant Postmaster-General Carlson is said to have conceived the idea of the organization, and Patrick Ford, editor of the Irish World of New York, is credited with assisting him in working out its details. In the ritual of the Continental League four leading questions will be put to candidates. They will be asked if they are citizens of the United States. If they accept everything in the United States constitution and the Declaration of Independence. If they sympathize with those who would deprive any citizen of the United States of civil honors on account of his religion, and if they believe in the public school system of the United States. The plan, says the paper, was first mooted at a meeting in New York last October, and the organization started in this city December 1, last. The constitution is given in full.

Press Excursionists in Denver.
DENVER, Jan. 9.—The International League of Press Clubs arrived here this morning. Local members of the press, the chamber of commerce and the real estate exchange escorted the excursionists over the city this afternoon and they were entertained at the theatres. They leave in the morning for Salt Lake.

Extent of the Present Cold Snap.
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The present cold snap extends to Canada on the north, the Rocky mountains on the west, the gulf on the south and almost the Atlantic coast on the east. The extreme temperature at White River, Canada, where it registered 33 below. The temperature here was 5 below this morning and to-night will range from 5 to 10 below.

A Boiler Explosion Victim Dies.
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Henry Oswold, one of the men injured in the boiler explosion last night, died to-day, having the fatalities up to five. Another expected death is that of Leggins.

Committees Meet and Organize.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The committees on interstate and foreign commerce, rivers and harbors and public buildings met and organized to-day.

A FATAL SHOT.
John Anderson, of Echo, is killed on a Rabbit Hunt.

A very distressing gun accident happened on Friday afternoon near Echo, by which Mr. John Anderson, proprietor of the Pacific hotel at that place, lost his life. Mr. Anderson and his brother Isaiah were out shooting rabbits. When about three miles east of Echo and near the railway track, John shot a rabbit and asked his brother to run and fetch it. Preparatory to starting off Isaiah put down his gun on the ground. What in the act of doing so it accidentally was discharged, the shot striking Mr. John Anderson in the calf of the left leg. The greater part of the calf was shot off, the main artery being severed. The wound bled profusely although they bound it up as well as possible with the appliances at hand. Isaiah left his brother and hastened to procure assistance. Returning in about half an hour with friends, they found John unconscious and to all appearances very near his end. The suffering man was conveyed to his home, and Dr. Hughes, of Coaville, was telegraphed for, but before he arrived the man was dead.

The doctor said from the nature of the wound Anderson could have lived only a very short time after his infliction. An inquest was held and a verdict of accidental death by shooting returned. A strange coincidence is that a son of the dead man met his death in a very similar way some years ago on the same day of the week and at about the same hour. Mr. Anderson was 44 years of age, an old resident of the place and very much respected. He leaves a wife and several children. The funeral will take place to-day at Crocydon under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias, of which order he was a member.

PRESS DELEGATES.

How They Will be Entertained in Salt Lake.

The Various Committees Report Progress and a Programme is Adopted Including a Concert and Banquet.

The committee, consisting of representatives of the press, chamber of commerce and citizens generally, selected to arrange and carry out a programme for the entertainment of the International League of Press clubs, which is expected to arrive in this city to-morrow, met yesterday afternoon at the "World's Fair Office" in the Commercial block and after a short session reassembled in the evening at the Knutsford.

IN NO PARTICULAR IS THE SUPERIORITY OF THE

Americanized Encyclopedia Britannica

Over the English work shown so strongly as in the articles which narrate the history of the Civil War. The article on the United States in the tenth volume contains a full history of the war, its causes and its results.

Under their respective heads, as GETTYSBURG, the WILDERNESS CAMPAIGN, etc., the great and decisive battles are separately treated. The biographies of Grant and Lee, of Sherman and Sheridan, Hancock and Stonewall Jackson, and the other great leaders of armies are full and complete, and the histories of Lincoln, Davis, Seward, Stanton and others who helped to make history between 1860 and 1865 are given in full detail. From these sources there can be gained at a glance the entire history of the gigantic struggle which resulted in the overthrow of slavery and the affirmation of the fact that the United States is a nation, one and indivisible. The English work paid little attention to this, probably the greatest war of all time. No American citizen can afford to remain in ignorance of the history of his country, and nowhere can he obtain a better account of the civil war than in the AMERICANIZED ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA. The English work appears to have been prepared by men whose idea was that our stupendous war was only a contest between two armed mobs, a view of which we cannot share.

YOU WOULD LIKE TO KNOW

What the Americanized Encyclopedia Britannica is? It is the most complete and diversified

Library of Entertaining Literature

Ever issued from the press. Open its pages where you will, you will find something to attract and interest you.

If you are fond of history, it contains the finest collection of histories in the world, embracing every nation of ancient and modern times, from hoary Egypt, with its civilization running back for thousands upon thousands of years, to the latest born of the great family of nations. And they are not dry as dust histories, either, giving nothing but dates and mere descriptions of events; but genuine historical works, as interesting as Macaulay's History of England, and some of them from Lord Macaulay's pen. Or if you have a taste for travels and descriptions of strange countries and their peoples, the AMERICANIZED ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA will lead you with the famous voyagers and explorers among the sunny islands of the Southern Seas, through the dreary wastes of Arctic ice, across the pathless wilds of Africa, or among the quaint peoples of the East. It will tell you of the vanished civilization of Peru, of the growth or decadence of feudalism in Europe, of the social and governmental polity of modern nations. And if, while you are reading, you come across some reference to a great man with whose deeds you are unfamiliar, the Americanized Encyclopedia Britannica contains a perfect library of biographical memoirs, to which you can turn with the certainty of finding just exactly what you want to know.

Are you interested in science? The Americanized Encyclopedia Britannica will tell you, in clear, understandable English, all about any science you may wish to study. Are you curious about mechanical inventions? The Encyclopedia describes them all. Or perhaps you want information about industry or mode of manufacturing? Again the Encyclopedia is ready to your hand; a moment's turning of its pages brings the precise answer to your eyes, and there before you lies a complete and exhaustive account of the entire subject. In short, whether you want amusement for an idle hour, solid instruction for more serious moments, or quick information about any matter as to which you are in doubt, the

IS THE VERY THING YOU NEED.

Why Americanized Encyclopedia Britannica? Because that is just exactly what it is—the Encyclopedia Britannica revised and amended for American use.

You want your Encyclopedia to tell you about Grant and Sherman and Sheridan and Hancock and Cleveland and Harrison, don't you? Well, the Encyclopedia Britannica won't do it. But the Americanized edition will. The latest edition of the original Britannica was compiled fifteen years ago, and gives no biographies of persons who were living at that time. Maybe you don't know that? The Americanized edition contains hundreds of new biographies, specially written for its pages, and including every prominent man or woman in the world.

You want fuller information about an American State than about an English county, don't you? You won't get it in the Encyclopedia Britannica, but you will in the Americanized Encyclopedia Britannica. Because the former work was compiled specially for the use of Englishmen, while the latter has been amended and revised especially for use in American homes. See?

New Articles on American Subjects, New Maps, New Biographies.

Every interesting feature of the original Encyclopedia Britannica preserved, and the whole work revised to date. Such is the
